Saturday Holly Days parade canceled

Dec. 13, 2013 - Hampton's downtown Holly Days Parade, scheduled for Saturday at 7 p.m., has been canceled because of impending bad weather. The forecast calls for rain or sleet starting Saturday afternoon.

Although the parade is canceled, Hampton's First Light, a celebration of the first Christmas in the Americas, will still be held Saturday at the Hampton History Museum. Most activities will move indoors.

The First light celebration will include ornament-making, local choruses, Holiday themed-karaoke, and lighting of the museum's star. For more information about First Light, go to the city's online calendar.
